MOZAEX SHIPS CHROMA MULTI-ROOM ENTERTAINMENT SERVER;
NEW “iBLU” FEATURE IS FIRST TO COMBINE iTUNES WITH BLU-RAY

WORLD’S FIRST SERVER TO SUPPORT BLU-RAY, iTUNES STORE AND ULTRAVIOLET VUDU MOVIE SERVICE; LEGALLY PLAYS BLU-RAYS AND DVDS WITHOUT AN EXPENSIVE, COMPLICATED DISC-CHANGER

Salt Lake City, Utah, USA – June 25, 2012 – Mozaex™, the premiere manufacturer of multi-room, multi-media Blu-ray entertainment servers, announced today it has begun shipping a new series of multi-room Entertainment Servers called Chroma that combines iTunes with Blu-ray.

Chroma’s “iBlu” combines the popularity and ease of iTunes with the quality of Blu-ray

“Mozaex has once again set a new value proposition in home entertainment by introducing the first Entertainment Server that combines the features of a Blu-ray Server and an Apple TV into a single unit for less than $3,600,” said Mozaex CEO Douglas Kihm. “By combining the quality of Blu-ray® with the convenience of Apple TV® and other online media, Chroma offer’s our dealers a unique opportunity to expand sales while dramatically improving their clients’ entertainment value and experience. At these extraordinary prices, everyone can now afford luxury on-demand entertainment.”

Kihm added that no other multi-room entertainment server offers this incredible price-to-performance value. “The nearest competition cost thousands of dollars more, requires an unreliable, complicated mechanical disc-changer, and doesn’t support iTunes, UV, photos, home videos or online media.

“It is a perfect replacement for the discontinued Sony Blu-ray disc changer used in thousands of single room projects and perfect for multiple room projects with budgets under five thousand dollars”.

Chroma includes “iBLU”, which supports both the iTunes movies/music store and Blu-ray movies. Chroma also includes a feature called iPlay™, which allows the user to play their iTunes library of movies and music using Apple’s elegantly designed, free iPad/iPhone “Remote” App. Chroma works with the Apple AirPort Express unit so Chroma’s music can be extended to another room wirelessly.

“iTunes, Apple TV and iPad/iPhone iDevices have revolutionized multi-room music and touch panel control yet the dealer channel has not yet been able to fully capitalize on this profitable revolution until now. With a price of a music-only server, Mozaex dealers can now offer a full featured multi-room iTunes Music Server plus a full featured Blu-ray and iTunes movie server with iDevice control.”

You can both buy and browse media via its HD TV interface and unlike Apple TV, Chroma doesn't require a TV to play music when using the Apple Remote App. You can also add unlimited Chroma Sonnets music players for multi-room iTunes music and other online media throughout the home. Chroma supports photo slide shows and 10 video formats for playing home videos and downloaded videos. For countries where it is available, Chroma also supports the new US service called VUDU Ultraviolet (UV) that allows you to download UV movies to your mobile phone, laptop, or Chroma.

Chroma and all Mozaex models also support 6 new User Interface international languages.

New Chroma Sonnet affordably adds wireless music playback to any room in the house

Sonnet is a wireless music-only player, for use when only music and online musical media is needed. Sonnet plays loaded CDs, iTunes music, and imported music files. Sonnet may be controlled with its included RF handheld remote, a two-way Touch Panel or an iPhone/iPad. Sonnet's TV user interface offers the same HD Cover Art library that is used on other Chroma players and servers.

Chroma 4Play allows you to play discs, downloaded, streaming and mobile movies and music

Only Mozaex plays all four forms of media namely discs, downloaded, streaming and mobile. Now with Ultraviolet VUDU support, Chroma allows you to enjoy your UV authorized DVDs and Blu-rays on your mobile iPhone/iPAD, Android, Windows laptop, or via the Chromas VUDU online library.

Chroma comes with a handheld remote and may also be controlled by a number of other control systems including Control4[®], Vantage[®], iPad/iPhone[®], Elan[®] g!, RTI[®], Crestron[®] and many others.

Chroma is sleek, light and whisper quiet

Chroma is enclosed in a compact, ultra-quiet chassis that may be mounted into either a 4.4 cm or 1.75 inch tall, 1U rack space, behind a TV with its included VESA mounting bracket or on a shelf. All models have a weight of less than 2.26 kg (or five pounds). It's compact size, low power and whisper quiet operation is perfect for yachts, especially where disc-changers cannot be used.

Chroma does not require an expensive, complicated disc-changer and is fully legal

While Kaleidescape[™] recently lost a legal case with the DVDDCA; Mozaex continues to be contractually compliant and legal because Mozaex does not ship with DVDDCA's or other unlicensed decryption software. In addition, since Mozaex has never shipped with any unlicensed decryption software, Mozaex products do not require a cumbersome and expensive disc-changer to play movies.

It is Mozaex's belief that the recent USA court ruling against Kaleidescape reaffirms that Mozaex products are legal in the USA and in many other countries where similar laws exist since Mozaex does not make, traffic or provide unlicensed decryption software.

Mozaex also believes that the court reaffirmed that the DMCA law does not prohibit the use of decryption software for legal purposes which includes storing content you own for your own personal use.

The court interpreted the DMCA law as follows: "A reading of the DMCA makes it clear that its prohibition [of decryption software] applies to the trafficking in and marketing of devices that would circumvent encryption technology, not to the users of such technology."

As it is with the 100 million PCs sold every year, Mozaex does not ship with or require unlicensed decryption software to be installed or used to play a wide variety of local and online media. It is the user's responsibility to obey all copyright laws. Mozaex does not promote or approve of the unlawful use of its products.
